

Banner for Glastonbury 2023

Two pupils from each of the Trust schools met at Crays Hill Primary with Matt Mackman, an artist we work with, to design and create a banner for display at the Glastonbury Festival.

The Festival are working with three charities: Oxfam, Greenpeace and Water Aid. These charities all work on climate change as part of the wider movement. Each charity having a different emphasis.

The Trust schools were working on the Oxfam banner and were asked to reflect the theme of climate justice; the global human rights element of the climate crisis.

Our representatives involved in the project were chosen from Year 4 and Year 5. Here's a preview:
